

Your friend borrowed your favourite top. She went out wearing it and has returned it to you ripped, damaged and dirty. She does not acknowledge there is a problem with it ...

You leave your mobile at a friend's house by mistake. It is too late in the evening to pick it up and your friend has said you will have to wait until tomorrow evening to get it back.
What do you do?

